Greater Woodbury Kiwanis Speakers Korner

On May 5th following lunch at Charlie Brown's Jen Kelleher will give a short presentation on the Steps of Hope. The Board Meeting will follow.

May 12th Army LtC Edward C Croot will present his personal story about his career in the Army. The Army and Kiwanis now have a relationship and they want to share with us ways we might be able to work together. The requested program on deepening the Delaware River was not presently available and will be offered at a later date.

On May 19th a special introductory program for potential members will be held at the Pavilion at The Red Bank Battlefield. Since this is an important initiative by the club we are asking all members to consider inviting likeminded individuals to this event. We hope to find partners on our journey of community service and serving the children of the world.

The program begins at 5:30 and the park closes at sunset. Please remember to sign up with what food item you are bringing. See Connie to get your 2 tickets for invited friends.

On May 26th Mike Scanzello, a magician who offers a fun and useful program combining Magic and sales principles will entertain us. He also assures us that the member tips on getting more donations will help the club. Sounds like fun.

Charlie Hughes spoke to our club on his career space science. He graduated from MIT and worked with RCA. They used cameras in 1984 for the closed circuit TV on the space shuttle. His slide presentation enhanced the program.

Jerry Lancaster with his assistant, Fred Davis, showed us different ways to fly fish. Jerry needed many accessories to successfully go on a fishing trip: high boots, goggles, safety kit, and of course bait for his hooks.

St John of God bowling was held on April 15th. Claire, Joan, Charlie and a retired friend of his helped the 8 children have an enjoyable morning. The next bowling is Friday, May 13th at 11:00AM at Brunswick Bowling in Deptford. All members are welcome to join us.

Christina Gerhard was a missionary with her husband and their three children for several years in Togo, West Africa. She shared her stories working with the youth there. For recreation the children loved to play soccer. There was a cost to send these students to school so it was a great honor when they were chosen to go. Togo is located on the Atlantic side of the continent in this dry environment.
